Watch the mail for your Special Negotiations Edition TAUP Bulletin!

The current TAUP/TU collective bargaining agreement will expire on Wednesday, October 15, 2008. TAUP believes it is in the best interest of students, faculty and Temple University to have a new agreement in place before the current one runs out. To that end TAUP spent much of this year preparing proposals, initiated negotiations with Temple University management in May and is continuing to negotiate through the summer in order to reach a settlement.

A Special Negotiations Edition of the TAUP Bulletin is being mailed to the home address of all TAUP members, so that each member will have a summary of the proposals at the bargaining table, supported by the rationale behind the proposals. If you would like to see the Bulletin immediately, just go to our web page, www.taup.org.
